Attractions inside Koh Chang

Bang Bao Fisherman Village is very interesting because residents in the area build up their houses with poles pitched into the sea and the bridge reaching to every house is set up to link the community together. The pier at Bang Bao is nearest to the diving area with the boat service leaving everyday.

Salak Phet Bay encircled by the hills with an exit to the sea at the end. The edge of which is located the village by the sea of the locals there.

Klong Son Bay which is rich with coral lines is in the northern most of the west coast.

White Sand Beach is one of the longest beach on Koh Chang. At the back of the beach are orchard of coconut trees and forests. White Sand Beach is like the tourist center being the first destination and also the well developed beach before others.

Klong Prao Beach & Laem Chaiyachet is the long seaside adjacent to Kai Bae Beach. The beach is rather steep. Swimming is possible. The northern most of Klong Prao Beach is adjacent to Laem Chaiyachet which has beautiful landscape but swimming is not recommend.

Kai Bae Beach is steep but swimming is safe. Kai Bae Beach is still a famous for beach tourists who do not like crowds. The place is also a nice viewpoint for sunset with a clear view of Koh Man Nok, Koh Man Nai, Koh Yuak and Koh Pli beautiful especially at dusk.

Bai Lan Bay - Tha Nam Beach - Lonely Beach has a peaceful settling ideal for tourists who do not like crowds. There is a tiny sandy beach in alternation with a stony beach, possible to swim in some spots. This is the only bay in the west of Koh Chang where mangrove forest remains to be seen.

Koh Chang is the largest island in the Gulf of Thailand and Thailand's second largest island from Phuket. At the heart of the island is full of high mountains and tropical rain forests which are the source of rivers and waterfalls. The east of the island facing the main land is the sediment area being brought from Trat River. It is consequently, making the fertile fish area where many fishermen villages are located especially at the estuary. A lot of beautiful beaches are located at the west facing the sea.

Nowadays, transportation to and within the island has been improved. A lot of hotels and resorts as well as bungalows are found anywhere and will increase very soon including complete facilities such as banks, post offices, internet service, restaurants, shops, mini-marts, 7 eleven, filling stations, beauty salons, bars, tatoo etc. Local villages including homestay villages are mostly located at the east of Koh Chang.

Koh Chang today has still been the island of beautiful natural attractions either mountains, forests or sea with various activities to enjoy during the days of relaxation.
